TOWN PUB FLAT PLANS

Caution of Ock Street turning into a 'death site for pubs'

THE company which took over ownership of the Cross Keys pub in Ock Street has applied for planning permission to turn it into six residential flats.

But chairman of Abingdon's branch of Campaign for Real Ale, Tony Goulding, has warned of Ock Street becoming a 'death site for pubs'.

Vale of White Horse District Council has launched its consultation period on the new application, with a target decision date of August 25.

Hawthorn Leisure bought the Cross Keys from former operators Greene King in May as part of a deal involving 275 pubs nationwide, which also included Abingdon's Saxton Arms.

Mr Goulding said: "We think it's a rotten idea.

"There are landlords and landladies out there but they do need support, and they do not always get it.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"We are concerned on the loss of another pub in Abingdon, especially on Ock Street.

"We seem to have lost them over the years, and it leaves the White Horse on the corner, then right into town for the Brewery Tap, so rather like Oxford Road it has become a death site for pubs."

Greene King had submitted a similar application but withdrew it prior to the sale to Hawthorn Leisure.

Julie Mayhew-Archer, district councillor for Abingdon Abbey and Barton, was concerned by the news.

She said: "It's disappointing if they feel they can't make a go of it, but I can understand why it would happen.

"They were struggling when

The Narrows opened, so it's a shame that a business isn't doing well.

"But I wouldn't say we're short of pubs in Abingdon, although most of our group are concerned when businesses in the town centre become flats."

J D Wetherspoon's pub The Narrows opened in the High street last year.

A spokesperson for Hawthorn Leisure said that even though the application had been submitted, it doesn't necessarily mean the pub will be turned into flats even if permission was granted.

They added: "Hawthorn Leisure is considering options for the future of the Cross Keys, which has in recent years been impacted by difficult trading conditions.

"No decision has been made."

Plans for the future of Saxton Arms in Saxton Road are currently uncertain.

£108m cash boost for county projects

OXFORDSHIRE has been given £108.6million of government funding for projects across the county, it was announced on Monday.

Money from the Oxfordshire Growth Deal will be invested in flood prevention schemes as well as transport projects for roads, parking and cycling networks.

It is hoped the deal will create up to 5,700 jobs, allow more than 4,000 homes to be built and generate £100m in public and private investment.

It has been given to the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP), and is part of

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

£12bn of funding that has been awarded nationally.

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron said: "Growth Deals are a crucial part of our long-term plan to secure Britain's future."

"By trusting local people, backing business and investing in infrastructure, skills and housing, we can create thousands of new jobs."

"And that means more economic security, peace of mind and a brighter future for hard-working people across Oxfordshire."

The funding comes after £1.2bn was awarded as part of the Oxford City Deal back in January.

Adrian Shooter, chairman of Oxfordshire LEP, said: "We are delighted with the government's continued support of Oxfordshire's growth ambition, building on the recently agreed innovation led City Deal."

"This funding will enable the delivery of more than 4,000 homes, supporting 5,700 new jobs in Oxfordshire and is the start of an ongoing programme for growth to 2020 and beyond."

Around £15.7m of funding has been confirmed for the first year, with a further £92.9m being delivered from 2016 onwards.

Ian Hudspeth, leader of Oxfordshire County Council, said: "The government has shown its commitment to Oxfordshire's ambition to be a global leader in science and technology."

"I am particularly pleased that £35m has been committed to the continued development of the 'science transit' public transport links between major research establishments, and the much-needed improvements to the A40."

"This will massively improve transport connections within the county and encourage science and technology companies to invest in Oxfordshire."

The majority of the money will be allocated to reducing the risk of flooding.

It will help fund an upstream flood storage scheme at Northway, and give a £26m boost to see a £125m Western Conveyance Channel built diverting floodwater south-west of the city.

Money will be used in Headington on road improvements, ahead of a biosciences building set up at Oxford University Old Road campus - a system which helps small bioscience and medical companies share technology and expertise.

Cycle paths will be improved around Didcot from the station for Science Vale to use bikes from the train station.

And a pedestrian/cycle crossing will be installed on London Road in Bicester, which it is hoped will alleviate congestion in the area.

Provisional allocations have also been awarded to a new engineering and technology centre in collaboration with Abingdon and Witney College, and to the Oxford Science Transit Scheme to expand public transport across the county.

Strikes ahead

OXON: Firefighters in the county are set to strike for eight days from next Monday over pensions.

The Fire Brigades Union (FBU) has staged a number of strikes in recent weeks, but this will be the longest to date.

Oxfordshire's firefighters are set to join officers across England and Wales in the strike.

They are unhappy about proposals that they should work until the age of 60, instead of the current retirement age of 55.

Firefighters have been contesting the changes for three years.

Dementia aware

OXFORD: The son of Thunderbirds creator Gerry Anderson is hosting a one-hour Dementia awareness session at Keble College on July 20.

Jamie Anderson is hosting the event following the death of his dad Gerry in December 2012, who suffered with Alzheimer's disease and Vascular Dementia in later life.

The session will provide an introduction to what dementia is, and how to help those living with it.

It starts at 6.30pm at the Parks Road college.

For more details, go to dementiafriends.co.uk.

Shock attack

OXFORD: A 20-year-old man lost his tooth after he was attacked by four men in Oxpens Road during the early hours of Sunday morning.

Shortly before 4.15am, a man was walking near the ice rink when he was approached from behind and assaulted by the men who walked off towards Abingdon Road.

One of the men is described as Asian and believed to be in his early 20s.

Detective Sergeant Simon Hannam, from Oxford Force CID, said: "This was a nasty attack on a man as he walked along Oxpens Road and one which appears to have no motive."

Police are appealing for any witnesses to call police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Schools face closure for strike action in county

SCHOOLS in Oxfordshire face disruption as the National Union of Teachers stages a strike today.

A number of schools across the county set to close or partially close today over the pay and pensions strikes.

Oxfordshire County Council has asked schools to inform them of closures in advance, and inform parents directly.

Frances Craven, deputy director for children, education and families at Oxfordshire County Council, said: "Parents have daily routines, including travel, based around their child's day at school as well as their own workplace commitments.

"We're encouraging schools to give the most timely information possible, directly to pupils and parents, to the county council for the purposes of keeping the website up to date."

"We hope that teachers will appreciate that there is an impact on the lives of people beyond the confines of the school, and provide as much good, solid information about impacts as they can, in advance."

More details about which schools are closed or partially closed go to oxfordshire.gov.uk/schoolclosures.

Charity music festival draws in the crowds

HUNDREDS of people gathered in Abingdon for the sixth annual Yeah Baby festival on Saturday, raising money for four different charities.

A mix of bands and musicians, including former Supergrass bassist Mick Quinn and The Voice contestant Lucy Clossier, entertained the crowd from their Market Place stage.

The festival has become dedicated to the memory of Amber Phillpott, who died in 2011 from Acute Myeloid Leukaemia aged 18 months.

Amber's dad and festival organiser James Phillpott also performed with his band The Benbows during the day, who have released the charity single 'Highlife' in Amber's memory.

Speaking about the single, James said: "It is part of my bereavement therapy, which I still go through at Helen & Douglas House."

"When they found out I like playing music, they encouraged me to write about my experience as a way of healing, and this was one of those songs that came out of that.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"'Highlife' is about imagining the party there must be in heaven when Amber comes waddling in, so it's an upbeat tune."

It is hoped that the festival will have raised in excess of £7,000, which will be split between Oxford Children's Hospital, Ronald McDonald House, Helen & Douglas House, and the Amber Phillpott Trust, which fundraises for leukaemia research.

"Saturday was absolutely fantastic," James added. "We were holding a good crowd down there, and it carried on like that until six in the evening."

"Yeah Baby just keeps getting bigger every year. There were a lot of people there, and there are more and more faces I recognise from previous years."

"The whole thing is gathering momentum every year, and it's certainly in the psyche of the Abingdon community."

• The Benbows perform 'Highlife' in Abingdon's Market Place on Saturday and (inset) James Phillpott with Amber

"I'd like to say a massive thank you to everyone who gave up their time to make the event work, and to the kind generosity of the people of Abingdon and further afield who came as well to enjoy the day."

Money raised from 'Highlife'

is donated to the Amber Phillpott Trust.

Pupils take off to Spain for landmark music tour

MORE than 70 musicians and seven staff from Abingdon School left for an eight-day tour of Barcelona last Saturday.

The pupils will be playing five concerts at prestigious venues across the Spanish city.

The group, from the school in Park Road, will play music of renowned composers including Gershwin and Rossini at venues such as the Sagrada Familia Cathedral.

Four concertos will be played by Abingdon pupils, including Mendelssohn's famous violin concerto and a piece by Armenian composer Alexander Arutunian.

Michael Stinton, director of music at Abingdon, said: "The anticipation of the tour has already brought great benefits to both orchestral and choral music making at the school."

"This is the fifth major international tour undertaken by the first orchestra in the last 19 years."

"The other tours to Central Europe, Hong Kong, Beijing and the USA have encouraged our young musicians to aim high and to harness the discipline that is required in rehearsal for first class playing."

"I am delighted that the school's Chapel Choir is also joining us for the tour."

"This funding evening really is a must for any community with a project in mind that needs funding to get off the ground."

ABINGDON: The Unicorn Theatre is host to Abingdon Drama Club's production of I Do, I Do, I Do, being staged at the venue until Saturday.

Charity funds

WANTAGE: Staff and residents at Richmond Retirement Village in Letcombe Regis raised nearly £1,000 for the Alzheimer's Society.

An art exhibition, fashion show, casino night and an operatic society performance were among the events which raised £937 from June 20 to 22.

People found

OXFORD: Two people who went missing from the city in separate incidents have both been found safe and well.

David Goodwin was found in Newport, South Wales, on Saturday, and was taken to hospital to be checked over.

And 17-year-old Rebecca Tremlett was found in the early hours of Monday morning after going missing the previous day.

Nightclub attack

OXFORD: A man was punched in the face in a nightclub after intervening in a fight between two men.

A 20-year-old was on the dance floor in the Lava Ignite nightclub, Park End Street, on June 28 when he was hit in the face between 1.45am and 2.15am, suffering a deep cut to his cheek.

The offender was white, with brown hair and wearing a white round-necked t-shirt.

Shock overhaul at Oxford United

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD United's future looks to be at the Kassam Stadium after a reshuffle at the top table of the club last week.

A shock overhaul of club management was announced on Friday, July 4.

The new club leaders have revealed a new focus on buying their current home, the Kassam Stadium, rather than building a new one at Water Eaton.

Rumours had been circulating last week of a move away from their Grenoble Road base.

Businessman Darryl Eales has taken over as club chairman from Ian Lenagan - who has owned Oxford United for eight years.

Mr Lenagan is now heading the "Stadium Project" - which could buy the stadium for the club.

He said: "With the radical changes likely in the planning landscape for Oxford in the next 12 months and the opportunity which that could present to Oxford United finally to own its own stadium, it was vital at this crucial time to plan ambi-

• The Kassam Stadium in Grenoble Road and (inset) former United chairman Ian Lenagan

tiously to take advantage of these opportunities or to lose them."

He also said the club has developed "a much better relationship" with Firoz Kassam, who owns the stadium.

Former West Bromwich Albion goalkeeper and director Mark Ashton is the club's new chief executive. Mr Lenagan's sons Simon and Adrian have stepped down from the board, while head coach Gary Waddock has also been a casualty of the re-shuffle and has been replaced by former Portsmouth boss Michael Appleton.

Speculation was rife that the Lenagan family was going to sell its shares in the club after news of Mr Eales' takeover bid, while a rival approach was made by Oxfordshire businessman Charlie Methven.

Mr Lenagan and Mr Eales now each have more than 30 per cent of the shares in the club, but both have no more than 50 per cent.

United's new chairman Mr Eales said: "A lot of people talk about ownership of a football club. I prefer to think of my involvement as that of a custodian of Oxford United with long-term intentions and ambitions which I share with the fans."

Big funding pledge for city projects

OXFORD City Council is set to put more than £600,000 into the transformation of Frideswide Square.

The City Executive Board recommended to full council last Thursday to give a capital grant of £670,000 to Oxfordshire County Council towards the £5.5m scheme.

Work to transform Frideswide Square from a set of traffic lights to roundabouts at either end of the square will begin this Autumn.

John Tanner, board member for Transport on the city council, said: "This is an absolutely key project."

"If we get it wrong then it will have an impact on a lot of people."

"We have to make sure we get this right not only for commuters but the people who live and work in the city itself."

At the same meeting £320,000 was agreed towards a redevelopment of Oxpens.

The site has been earmarked for housing, research and development space, offices, a hotel, local facilities and a public open space.

The grants are due to be approved by full council next Monday, July 14.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Florey feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truths that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

OXON: Thames Valley Police has launched a new online virtual neighbourhood tool to provide advice about crime prevention.

Found on the crime prevention section of the Force's website, the tool suggests how to improve security in different property locations.

Sgt Bryan Percival said: "Many of us prefer images and interactivity as we can better relate to them, we learn from them and they can be fun too."

4,000-home plans for city to be prepared

OXFORD City Council is to begin preparing a planning application to develop over 4,000 homes on green belt land south of Grenoble Road.

City Executive Board (CEB) members on the council voted in favour of pursuing discussions with landowners at a meeting last Thursday night.

The Grenoble Road site, in South Oxfordshire District Council's (SODC) boundary, has been earmarked to meet Oxford's housing shortage.

The Oxfordshire Strategic Housing Market Assessment identified a need for 28,000 homes to be built within the city's boundaries by 2031.

City council leader Bob Price said: "This is in preparation for an anticipated planning application, at and when we are able to make one, on the site at Grenoble Road which we have been interested in developing for many years."

"We want to enter into an arrangement to work out what the best is for the site."

Last week's recommendation from the city executive is subject to a report on whether a partnership with current landowners will represent best value.

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Approximately 166 hectares, of which 35 are owned by the city council, is the focus of a 4,000 home development.

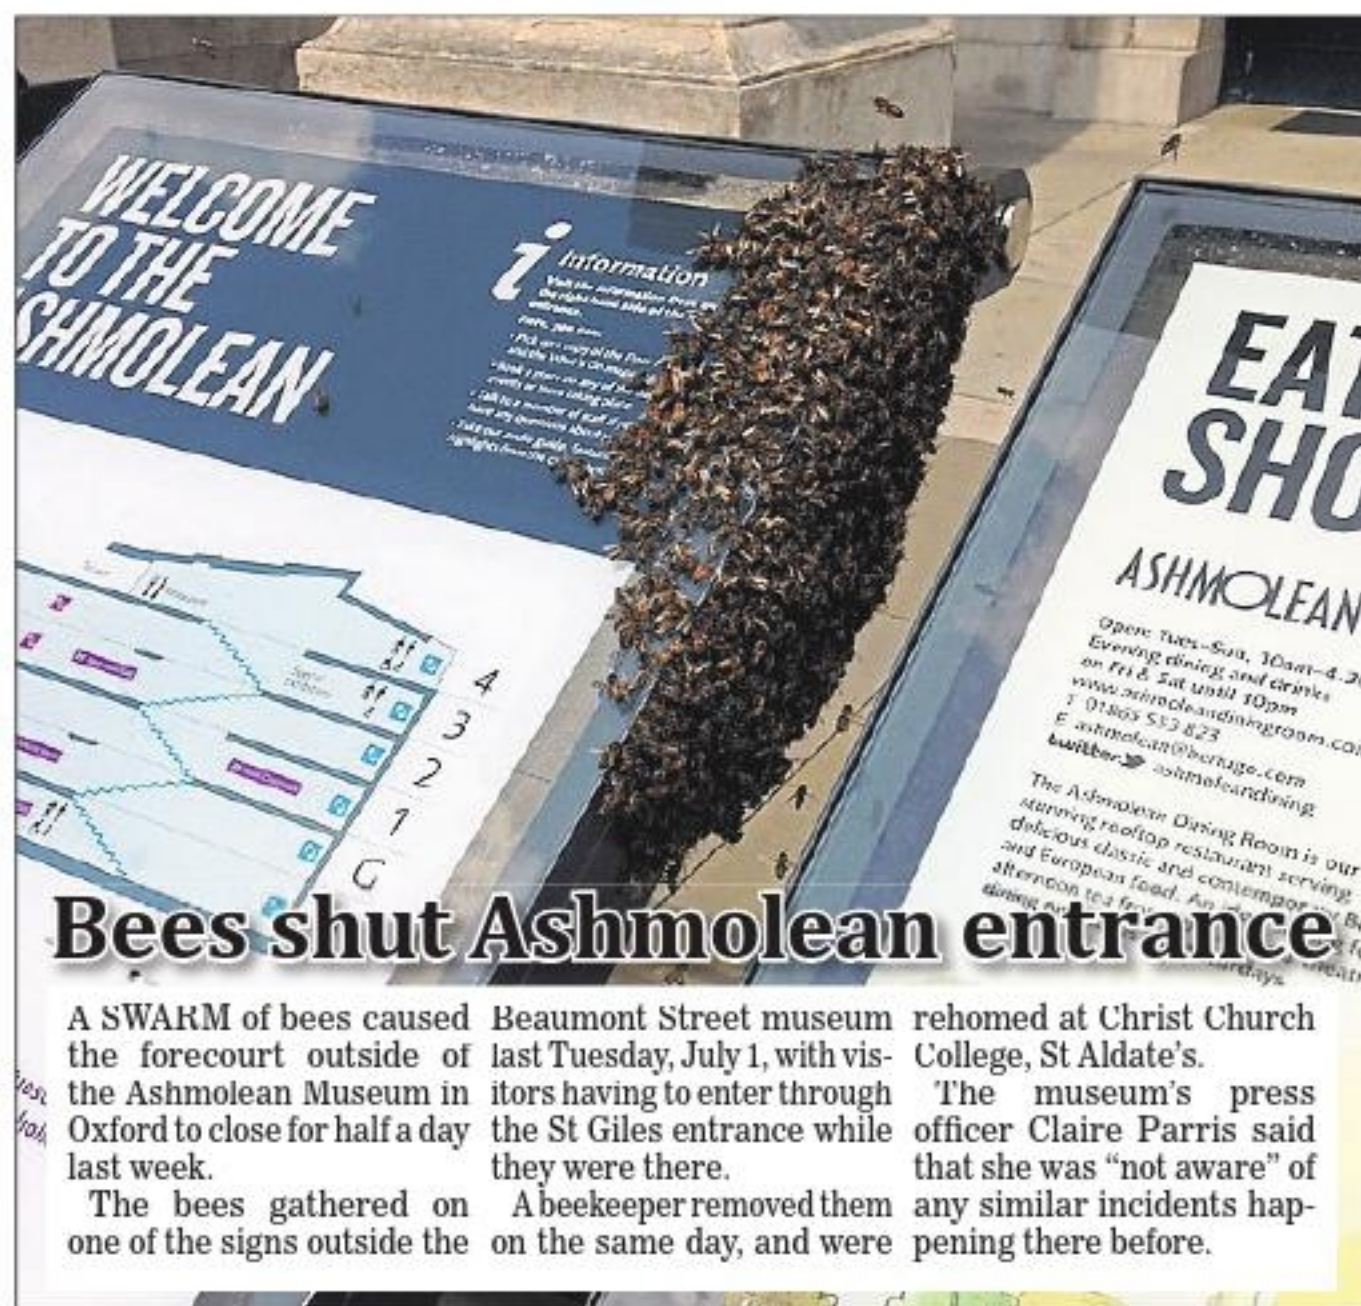

SODC oppose the plans and its cabinet member for planning Angie Paterson told the Oxfordshire Guardian last week that it was "important to remember" the land is in the south of the county.

Oxfordshire's Campaign to Protect Rural England have also opposed the plans.

However, in last week's report the city council notified members that it had "taken preliminary legal advice" and "it is therefore appropriate to explore the options for pursuing development".

The city council will now draft an agreement declaring its interest in the land, which will be subject to the CEB's recommendation.

An agreement would include planning, environmental and transport advice as well as a valuation figure, expected to exceed £0.5m, in promoting the land for development.

Bees shut Ashmolean entrance

A SWARM of bees caused the forecourt outside of the Ashmolean Museum in Oxford to close for half a day last week.

The bees gathered on one of the signs outside the Beaumont Street museum last Tuesday, July 1, with visitors having to enter through the St Giles entrance while they were there.

A beekeeper removed them on the same day, and were rehomed at Christ Church College, St Aldate's.

The museum's press officer Claire Parris said that she was "not aware" of any similar incidents happening there before.

New pavilion to get people playing sport

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A STATE-OF-THE-ART changing room pavilion at Grandpont Recreation Ground in Oxford was officially opened on Saturday.

The Grandpont Pavilion, which has cost £730,000 to build, will be used by Hinksey Park FC and help them increase the number of teams they operate.

It features two changing rooms, an officials' room, kitchen area and community room.

Oxford City Council and the football club worked in partnership with the Oxfordshire County FA to obtain a £99,508 grant from the Premier League & The FA Facilities Fund for the pavilion.

And it was officially opened by Mark Lygo, council board member for parks, sports and events.

He said: "I am delighted to officially open this pavilion, and I hope that this will be a great asset to the local community."

"By building this facility we are able to expand the sports offer to local people and get more people involved in sport."

Jim Smith, chairman at Hinksey Park FC, said: "I am delighted to see the official opening of the brand new Grandpont Pavilion."

"It will be a fantastic facility for the community. The project has been a partnership approach and would have not been possible without city council and the Premier League & The FA Facilities Fund."

The Premier League & The FA Facilities Fund is delivered by the Football Foundation, and has awarded 12,000 grants worth more than £490m towards improving grassroots sport.

Paul Thorogood, chief executive of the Football Foundation, added: "Oxford City Council and Hinksey Park FC deserve huge credit for taking a vision and turning it into reality."

Firefighters deal with aircraft crash in major training exercise

EMERGENCY services held a training exercise at London Oxford Airport last week, with a mock incident where a light aircraft had collided with a stationary helicopter.

Three fire engines took part in the exercise, where the aircraft had ignited on the runway while four injured people were inside.

Medically-trained firefighters then treated the mock casualties, along with 16 passengers who were in the helicopter.

Kidlington fire station manager Gary D'Anger said: "This was a major training exercise that really tested the response of all involved.

"It is essential that emergency services have the opportunity to do joint training on mock incidents like the one we carried out at London Oxford Airport."

"It was excellent to see the training come together in this realistic exercise and the successful result really shows how effectively different agencies can work together."

Cowley carnival attracts thousands

CROWDS of 45,000 took to the streets of Oxford for the biggest ever Cowley Road Carnival on Sunday.

Dancers and actors led a parade of 700 people to music almost a mile down the road at 2pm from The Plain to the City Arms in Magdalen Road.

Colourful costumes and a high-energy atmosphere drew record-breaking crowds to join the throng.

The carnival, which cost more than £100,000, was 10,000 people bigger than last year.

Organiser Danielle Battigelli said: "The atmosphere has been fantastic, helped by the weather which was perfect."

Ms Battigelli, director of Cowley Road Works charity which runs the carnival, added: "Everyone had a wonderful time."

"I would like to thank

By Katriona Ormiston

katriona@taylornewspapers.co.uk

all the people who made it possible."

The procession of 24 groups was led by Oxford urban street dance group Body Politic and performers from Pegasus Youth Theatre in Magdalen Road.

Among the weird and wonderful sculptures, figures and floats built for the occasion were copies of gargoyles from Oxford's streets and an oversized Mad Hatter from Alice in Wonderland - in a nod to Alice's Day on Saturday marking the day Lewis Carroll came up with the Alice in Wonderland story in Oxford.

And pupils from Cheney School in Headington paraded their hand-built giant golden polar bear to celebrate the city's author Philip Pullman.

Volunteer Heidi Gastall, a PhD chemistry student from Oxford University's St Anne's College, said: "It has been a really fun day."

"I appreciated getting to see lots of different people from Oxford and all different areas."

"There was a really enjoyable atmosphere, a variety of activities and everyone was really nice."

The doors of 15 venues down Cowley Road propped open staging music including Oxford-based pop singer Nikki Loy.

Highlights on the main Manzil Gardens stage included headliners the Original Rabbit Foot Spasm Band, who got the whole audience on its feet to dance.

While a Body Politic performance inspired by the 1,000 robots in MINI Plant Oxford factory's new bodyshop in Cowley held the attention of hundreds.

Frank Bachmann, managing director of MINI Plant Oxford, said: "Carnival is such a great way of bringing the whole of the local community together."

"We were delighted that the plant was chosen as one of the faces of Oxford - and that our robots proved an inspiration for the street dancers."

Catering assistant Sionio Dos Santos, who was based in Aston Street, said: "It has been great. I have enjoyed the day and met a lot of people from backgrounds."

Ms Battigelli added: "Carnival costs us over £100,000 and I would urge anyone who came and enjoyed the day to help us with a small donation to ensure we can do the same again next year."

£3m cancer centre for Oxfordshire opened

A CANCER charity has finally moved out of its temporary building after eight years and into a brand new £3million tree house-inspired centre.

Maggie's, which provides free practical, emotional and social support to cancer sufferers and their families, upped its roots into a new state-of-the-art building on Tuesday.

The charity has been running from a small temporary centre in the grounds of The Churchill Hospital, on Old Road, since 2006, originally planning to move into a permanent home in 2009.

However, building work began in March last year on a new centre, which was finished on June 23.

"It's absolutely beautiful, it's stunning in its own right, but it is already functioning in the way it was designed to do," said Claire Marriott, centre head for Maggie's Oxford.

The building, designed by architect Flora Gathorne-Hardy, blends into the natural landscape and has three wings built on stilts, allowing separate areas for information, emotional support and relaxation.

Ms Marriott said after years of being limited by space, the charity it is now able to offer a more comprehensive programme to cancer sufferers.

"We will be able to do more work with families or couples, be able to host bigger support and network groups, and be much more accessible as we are directly opposite the hospital," she said.

"We are really extending our nutrition programme because we will be able to do cookery demonstrations in our beautiful new kitchen."

"We have got a much bigger space that will allow people to meet with each other more easily."

After spending her first day at the new centre on Tuesday, Ms Marriott said: "It's been amazing."

"We've been able to see the building do exactly what it was designed for; to be full of all kind of emotion, tears, laughter and people affected by cancer coming in and getting the support they need."

Groups and classes at Maggie's are free and to find out more call 01865 751882.

Centre for homeless wins award

A MEDICAL centre in Oxford won a national award for its work helping the city's homeless.

Luther Street Medical Centre cares for 600 homeless people.

It was recognised at the National Association of Patient Participation annual conference in Leeds winning the Highly Commended award and a £250 cheque.

Sheldon Gould, patient facilitator of the centre's patient participation group, said: "I'm delighted our group has been recognised."

"In a time when local budgets and support for homeless people are being slashed, this is proof we are working hard and doing something right."

"Our members turn out to our meetings and give regular feedback and ideas for improvement time and again. This award is thanks to them."

Practice manager Stephen Moore added: "We are a unique surgery in what is seen as an affluent city."

• Sheldon Gould (centre) receives the award for Luther Street Medical Centre

"While many walk away, we are here dealing with some of the most complex medical issues and individuals in society."

"This award recognises even those experiencing homelessness can have a meaningful say on their healthcare and hopefully it will help to remove some of the stereotypes around homeless people."

Luther Street Medical Centre is open to anyone in Oxford who is homeless or vulnerably housed, and is not currently registered with an Oxford City GP.

It also gives help, advice and support for patients.

'Severe delays' as A420 to shut at Shrivenham

A £3.5MILLION scheme to resurface the A420 at Shrivenham will start later this month, with diversions set to send traffic through the village.

The road will be completely closed between Watchfield Roundabout and Lower Bourton Junction until September.

Oxfordshire County Council is carrying out the work to improve the road surface and maintain the drainage and safety barriers, and has pledged that crews will work extra shifts to ensure it is completed as fast as possible.

But disruption is expected as local traffic is diverted through Shrivenham High Street, with Oxford bound traffic directed along Faringdon Road.

All traffic heading towards Swindon will be diverted via Majors Road and Longcot Road.

David Nimmo Smith, the council's cabinet member for transport, said: "This section of the A420 is failing rapidly and needs to be reconstructed."

"It's a big job, but one that needs to be done. All road users will be affected by the work and severe delays are to be expected."

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"However I am sure that the short term pain will be worth the long term gain as the road should not need further repairs for many years."

"We will have staff working during the week, at weekends and sometimes at night to get the job done as quickly as possible."

"We have been in regular contact with the parish council and everyone is being asked to review their daily journey route, mode of transport and time of travel and where possible consider alternatives."

Preparatory work will be taking place on the road on Monday, with off-peak traffic restrictions in place while this is carried out.

Access to properties and businesses on the affected stretch of the A420 will be maintained, and measures will be in place to prevent heavy goods vehicles using unsuitable local roads.

Officers raise £4,000 for charity

A TEAM of runners from RAF Brize Norton have completed a 184-mile journey along the River Thames to raise money for the RAF Benevolent Fund.

Six runners ran in six mile stints from the source of the river at Kemble, in Gloucestershire, to the Thames Barrier in London on June 26 and 27.

They have raised more than £4,000 so far, and hope to add another thousand through sponsorships and bucket collections.

One of the runners, Cpl Stuart Goodhall, said: "This really was a bit of a marathon challenge for our team."

"Fatigue was definitely a factor, but it was fantastic to see the Thames Barrier draw closer and know what we had accomplished for charity."

"We chose the RAF Benevolent Fund as one of our benefitting charities because we wanted to include an RAF charity. The Fund does excellent work supporting serving and ex-serving members of the RAF and their families, providing them with a range of help."

As well as the Benevolent Fund, money will also go to sporting charity KEEN Oxford, and aviation charity Fly2help.

Mike Neville, director of fundraising at the RAF Benevolent Fund, said: "Without the funds raised by our supporters, we could not deliver the wide range of services we do."

Ellie-Beth raises hundreds for charity after walking challenge

A FOUR-year-old girl from Bicester has raised more than £400 for Diabetes UK after completing a six lap walk of University Park.

Ellie-Beth Collins was raising money for the charity in honour of her Uncle John and her granddad, who live with diabetes.

She walked six circuits of the course, which amounted to just over six miles, at the fundraising event on June 22.

Her total raised stands at just over £432 as the Guardian went to press last night, and Ellie is hoping to still raise a bit more yet.

"My Uncle John has had diabetes for 35 years and I want to raise money for this important charity to show him how much I love him - he's my prince!" said Ellie.

"My granddad also has diabetes but not the same kind, his is type two. He is also very special to me, and I love him too."

"I did this walk last year with my uncles, aunts and mummy and I did very well, but I didn't get sponsored as I was too late to register."

The walk was one of a number of events taking place around the country, aimed at helping people to be more physically active and to live a healthier lifestyle.

Lewis Honeywill, Diabetes UK regional fundraiser for the South East region, said: "I would like to say a big thank you not only to Ellie, who raised an amazing amount, but to all the dedicated fundraisers who took part in the Walk for Diabetes event in Oxford."

"All the money raised will help us to campaign to improve local services for people living with diabetes and get information and support to the people that need it."

"It will make life better for the 37,000 people living with diabetes in Oxfordshire."

To donate to Ellie, go to her fundraising page: justgiving.com/elliabethcollins.

John Howell

MP for Henley

I WAS struck by how totally at odds were those who do not want us to give any more international aid and the vast numbers of school children in the constituency who have been campaigning for us to give more to help send young people to school across the globe.

The difference was brought home to me a week or so ago when I visited St Andrew's School in Chinnor.

I attended a school assembly and received numerous wall hangings that the children had put together which I was asked to pass on to the Prime Minister. The hangings send a powerful visual message urging us to help send disabled children to school.

Around the world, there are still some 57 million children who do not go to school, about a third of whom have a disability. The extension of learning and basic education across the globe has to be a good thing and one which adds to our own sense of security.

That is why to those who tell me that the aid budget is a waste of money, I say you need to stop and think again. In the last four years we have thoroughly reformed to whom we give money and for what.

In Bangladesh, for example, our Government aims to transform the lives of millions of poor Bangladeshis through programmes which contribute directly to our key objectives around security and prosperity. In 2012-13, education accounted for over 20 per cent of our spend in the country.

It was beaten only by the amount spent on wealth creation. The education spend has helped 500,000 girls and boys to complete primary education and to improve teaching quality.

International development is in our national interest and is both the right thing and the smart thing to do. UK investment overseas has transformed the lives of millions for the better and, by investing in jobs, opportunities and peace, we have moved one step closer to ending aid dependency and creating the world we strive for.

Night at Le Manoir

MICHELIN-STARRED chef Raymond Blanc hosts a free evening of fine dining and live music at his Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons restaurant in Great Milton this month.

As part of a 'Very Special Night', Raymond is teaming up with Welsh soprano Katherine Jenkins to stage the evening on July 25.

Katherine will perform in the restaurant's La Belle Époque conservatory, before a four-course dinner and a cognac masterclass.

And those attending will enjoy the experience for free, having been successful in applying for tickets over the last month.

"It has to be very special," said Raymond. "Le Manoir will be at its best at this time of year, as it is absolutely adorned in lavender."

"We have food, music, friends sat around the table, and cognac of course, celebrating life and one's health, and we are very much looking forward to the evening."

"And Katherine is such a lovely person. We were meant to do a duet together, so maybe we'll do something impromptu after much cognac being drunk!"

Raymond has lived in Oxfordshire for more than 35 years, having come to the county from France to work as a waiter at the Rose Revived at Newbridge, near Witney.

He has since gone on to run the Brasserie Blancs across the country along with Le Manoir, as well as becoming one of the most well-known chefs in the UK.

"Oxford is my second home," Raymond said.

"I have a tremendous amount of love for this city, and England as well has been wonderful."

"It's got some of the best theatres now, the best orchestra in the Oxford Philomusica, and there's very good food in Oxford as well."

"I think we've got it all, and I feel it's right."

Tickets are free, and can be applied for at martellveryspecialnights.com before tomorrow.

A circus with a twist

GIFFORDS Circus' tour around Oxfordshire comes to a close this weekend, with the final shows at Oxford University Parks today, tomorrow and Saturday.

This year's show, called 'The Thunders', has been exploring the magic of the ancient world, inspired mainly by Greek mythology.

It has been at Blenheim Palace, Waterperry Gardens and Stadhampton in recent weeks, and set up at its University Parks base last Thursday.

Dr Llewelyn Morgan, an associate professor in classical language and literature at the University of Oxford, was asked by circus founder Nell Gifford for advice to make sure the show is classically authentic.

"I was chuffed to be asked to advise on this year's Giffords Circus show," he said.

"I think that the circus is a fascinating place to stage and show the Greek myths."

"The Thunders' captures perfectly an aspect of ancient storytelling we classicists don't appreciate enough – it's humour and anarchic energy."

This show is being directed by Cal McCrystal, who is famed for his work with The Amazing Spider-Man 2, The Mighty Boosh, and Broadway smash hit One Man, Two Guvnors.

Giffords Circus was established in 2000 by Nell and Toti, and it is renowned for its style of fusing together circus and theatre.

Over the past 14 years, they have used dance, comedy, acrobatics, juggling, live music and farmyard animals in their tours.

Their signature burgundy and gold showman's wagon and giant tent have become synonymous with the group, and regularly feature in their shows across southern England.

Shows today start at 11am, 5pm and 7.30pm, before two more shows tomorrow at 5pm and 7.30pm, and the final performances on Saturday at 12noon and 3pm.

Comedy show

STAND-UP comic Andrew Lawrence brings his new show 'Reasons to Kill Yourself' to Henley's Kenton Theatre on Saturday.

The show begins at 8am.

Art of war-torn lands

WAR artists are presenting their work at Waterperry Gardens from next Thursday, as part of an exhibition marking the centenary of the First World War.

Douglas Farthing, Graeme Lothian, Andrew Miller and David Rowlands are among those taking part in Art in Action, which is offering visitors the chance to experience the process of creating a war painting at close range.

Twenty-two years of military service has helped shaped Douglas' work, with his passion for art intensifying in 2001 when he was in Macedonia.

"I visited a school which had been destroyed by the war, where children's drawings were stuck on the walls," he said.

"There were murals of fighting and tanks entering the village. It all seemed to fit together – the power of art in war described by the children on the walls of their school."

Graeme prides himself on being a self-taught painter, and believes that war art "has a resonance that you just can't capture with photography".

He added: "You will have seen countless photographs of the war in Afghanistan, but how many can you actually remember?"

"A painting captures something that photography can't."

Andrew began his art career by painting landscapes, but was encouraged by a Royal Marine into attempting war art.

He said: "It is a thrilling experience being on the front line – you are always aware of how vulnerable you are but that makes it more exciting."

David has travelled repeatedly to Northern Ireland in the 1980s and 1990s, documenting the individuals in war rather than war itself.

"Whilst a photograph may have the advantage of veracious immediacy, painting can fulfil all the requirements of a patron. A photograph couldn't capture everything."

Lectures and classes will also be held during the four days of Art in Action, running from July 17 to 20.

For more information about the show, go to artinaction.org.uk.

Regarded as one of the UK's finest fingerstyle guitarists, Stuart Ryan began his professional career in 2002 when he was awarded Guitarist Magazine's 'Acoustic Guitarist of the Year.' He quickly came to the attention of Martin Taylor MBE, one of the world's leading jazz guitarists, who gave Stuart valuable encouragement and asked him to perform at his Kirk Michael Guitar Festival sharing the bill with leading players Tommy Emmanuel and Bireli Lagrene amongst others. An acclaimed performer, Stuart has gone on to share the stage with many of the world's greatest acoustic guitarists including Martin Taylor MBE, Eric Roche, Thomas Leeb and Jon Gomm, all of whom he is proud to count as friends. Several of Stuart's previous students have also gone on to become prominent players themselves such as Youtube sensation Mike Dawes and 'Acoustic Guitarist of the Year 2011' Will McNicol. Stuart's music has also ended up in some unlikely places - Lamb vocalist/songwriter Lou Rhodes was so impressed with

Stuart's study pieces that she used one of them in her track 'Rounds' from Lamb's 2011 album '5.' <http://www.musicatthebarn.org/>

DIDCOT URBAN RACE 2014
"Run, jog or just walk - this is a fun and exciting event for the Summer Bank Holiday! It's organised by Thames Valley Orienteering Club and is ideal for all ages and abilities - families, children and runners too.

An orienteering race does not follow a set route. Instead you have to visit a series of checkpoints and register each one with an electronic timing chip. The checkpoints may be along streets, alleyways, behind bushes in the areas of parkland or even around the Ladygrove lakes. The challenge is to decide what you think the quickest route will be between the checkpoints and then to find your own way along that route using a special orienteering map. The event takes place on Bank Holiday Monday 25 August, around the intricate streets and parkland of the Ladygrove estate. There will be several courses to choose from, ranging from 1km for children in a traffic free area, up to 7km for runners. Help will also be available. Registration and parking will be at Didcot Town FC, Bowmont Water, OX11 7AF. Check out the flyer on our website for more info and entry fees. Just come along on the day between 10am and midday and we'll get you started. Just don't forget your sense of adventure! Please do email us if you have any questions: publicity@tvoc.org.uk

WIN tickets to Fairport's Cropredy 2014!

ANYONE attending a village fete in Cropredy in the 70's would have looked at you as if you were insane had you tried to convince them that nearly 40 years later Fairport Convention's contribution to village life was to grow to one of the most loved festivals in the country.

From its simple musical session over an afternoon the festival has grown to a three day monster that draws 20,000 fans to see up to twenty different bands that cover a wide range of music.

This year's headliners for the 35th festival include Capercaillie, Steve Hackett and Genesis Extended and the customary Saturday night closing performance from host band Fairport Convention will be preceded by a set from Al Stewart. Other notable acts include The Waterboys, Edwina Hayes, Benjamin Folke Thomas, Churchfitters, Travelling Band, The Wonder Stuff, Chas & Dave, The Australian Pink Floyd Show, Richard Digance, Blackbeard's Tea Party, Reg Meuros, Cara Dillon, Marillion. As in previous years, Cropredy will feature the winners of the BBC Radio 2 Young Folk Award.

Closing date:

If it was just the music it would be enough but Cropredy also has an amazing relaxed atmosphere that is unequalled at any other UK summer event. This year the festival runs from Thursday the 7th to Saturday 9th of August. For more details and to book tickets visit www.fairportconvention.com

We have a family ticket pack for the weekend for one lucky winner who will get to enjoy three days of good music and real ale. The ticket pack includes a pair of adult weekend tickets, camping ticket and up to three under 12 child tickets.

Second prize is a pair of adult tickets to the Saturday.

All you have to do to be in with a chance of winning one of these amazing prizes is answer this simple question:

Q: Which band is playing the closing set of the festival?

Let Barry Bear help teach your kids about money...

THERE is a belief that at times building societies are considered dull, boring places and appeal only to an older customer base. This is one of the reasons why Newbury Building Society decided to develop a range of initiatives to engage with young families.

The rationale behind our approach was simple - we wanted to make saving interesting. Our Junior Newbury Building Society (JNBS) scheme had already shown that parents believe it is important for children to be taught responsibilities that come with money at an early age. Our aim was to help them understand money in a simple, family-orientated way.

Barry Bear, our loveable mascot, arrived on Monday 31 March 2014. His Messy Money events during May half-term were designed to be enjoyed by children and adults alike, using hands-on activities to explore money matters and to show that our values reflect the financial needs of our customers. 476 children and 230 adults attended these hugely successful events and more are planned.

To add further support we launched an exciting new account for children. The Barry Bear account is for children who are aged 7 or under at the time of opening. For more information about the Barry Bear account, Messy Money, and the Society's family-friendly initiative, or to keep up to date with Barry's travels, visit www.newbury.co.uk

Simply Vauxhall is back

FOR the second year in a row, petrol heads will be spoiled as Simply Vauxhall rolls in to the National Motor Museum in Beaulieu, Hampshire, on Sunday, July 27.

The event promises to be a fantastic opportunity for Vauxhall lovers of all ages to appreciate the British car manufacturers work since its foundation in 1857.

The all-day event will be jam packed with attractions for everyone to enjoy, as Beaulieu host the second ever event.

It features the National Motor Museum, World of Top Gear, On Screen Cars, Beaulieu Abbey and Palace House and gardens.

Along with the attractions that will take place, several car clubs have already confirmed their attendance at the rally, including the VXR Owners' Club, Vauxhall Cavalier Mk3 Owners' Club and Vauxhall Drivers' Club.

In addition to all the attractions and features, visitors who will attend the event will have the opportunity to vote for their favourite vehicle in the People's Choice Awards.

By James Richings

The owner of the winning car will receive a Beaulieu Trophy in an afternoon presentation ceremony and will lead a cavalcade of Vauxhalls through the attraction grounds.

For entrants arriving in a Vauxhall and joining the event on the Beaulieu parkland, entry prices for adults is £10 and for children £5.

Visitors can buy on the day or book in advance at beaulieushop.co.uk or on ticket hotline 01590 612888.

Event tickets include entry to the whole Beaulieu attraction.

Entry into the Beaulieu parkland with your Vauxhall is from 9.30am.

For all trade stand enquiries, telephone 01590 614614.

Scania Abingdon - Not just for truckers...

YOU could be forgiven for assuming Scania are all about large trucks and giant exhaust systems. Scania Abingdon have made this reputable brand and garage services accessible to all with Andy Ledbury the Branch Controller leading the team with a totally forward thinking approach. As a woman, taking my car for repairs to a garage associated with trucks would usually be a reason to look elsewhere, but the Abingdon branch is very female friendly with full reception facilities and an adjacent waiting area kitted out with a PC and Tablet PC with internet service for those who need to keep on working while waiting for their car.

Also inside the waiting area is a large TV screen, which allows you to watch your car being worked upon, so you can see what is happening every step of the way.

Scania also offer fixed price repairs, so the price you see is the price you pay. It couldn't be easier for those of us who don't find it convenient to get to a garage when you have a busy working life, so at Scania Abingdon, you can take your car in from as early as 7am right up until 9pm Monday - Friday or Saturday from 8am until 12 noon, so you have total flexibility.

The full range of services are available for cars and vans. MoT's are £38 and Services are from £99, or large van Services from £120.

Scania Abingdon carry out all repairs.

During the Summer months they can even make sure you keep your cool with a full air conditioning service from just £36.

The team at Scania Abingdon have a combined 110 years experience in vehicle repairs and servicing, so you can be sure you are in good hands.

Scania Abingdon are at; Unit 6-7 Eyston Way, Ashville Trading Estate, Abingdon, OX14 1TR. Tel: 01235 553596, you can also email them at: Abingdon.enquiries@scania.com

Welsh to play Exeter in televised opener

LONDON Welsh seek to kick-off their Aviva Premiership campaign in style when they begin their season against Exeter Chiefs at the Kassam Stadium on September 7.

And there will be an extra incentive for the Exiles as the game will be shown live on BT Sport.

The Dragons will also face Bath, Sale Sharks and Gloucester Rugby during the opening month of the season.

Head coach Justin Burnell said he is delighted to be at home for the first game, but is wary of the challenge his newly promoted side faces in the top-flight of English rugby.

"It will be a great opportunity to show the people of Oxford what the Premiership is all about and hopefully we can get a good crowd in and get the stadium bouncing," he said.

"But we're under no illusions as to the size of the task ahead of us this season.

"We have to be realistic and for us to maintain our place in the Premiership we have to be targeting two wins from our first six games, and a minimum of five wins in all."

The Exiles won promotion back to the Premiership after beating Bristol in the Greene King IPA Championship play-off final in June.

And Burnell wants to ensure the same work ethic that earned Welsh promotion is replicated this season.

"We thrived last year on the fact that there was only ever one club (Bristol) that was supposed to win the Championship," he said.

"We're very passionate about London Welsh and we loved being knocked. We thrive on that."

"We don't claim to be world beaters but what we will produce is a tremendous attitude."

"If we get beaten on the day by a better team with better players then that's life, but it certainly won't be for a lack of trying."

With champions Northampton Saints, Saracens and Leicester Tigers all in store for the Exiles this season, Burnell hopes he and his players can thrive when pitting their wits against the best in the country.

He said: "The biggest thing

• Justin Burnell is looking forward to the start of the new season (Picture by Martin John) that drives you as a player or as a coach is that you want to pit yourself against the best.

He added: "As a coach you're competing against some of the best coaches in the world and that's where technical and tactical knowledge has to come to the fore."

Aussie player McCaffrey is the latest signing for London Welsh

LACHLAN McCaffrey has become the latest player to become a part of London Welsh's Aviva Premiership aspirations after joining the club earlier this week.

The 24-year-old Australian joins from Super Rugby side Brumbies after impressing head coach Justin Burnell at the recent Club 10s competition in Singapore.

McCaffrey, a back row forward, has also played for the Waratahs in the Super Rugby and Burnell is delighted to have the Liverpool-born Australian on board.

He said: "Lachlan caught our attention at the Club 10s in Singapore when he was part of the Brumbies squad."

"I had the opportunity to meet him first hand and have a look at him play, and he really impressed me."

"He's EQP (an English Qualified Player) and that's very important, but he's also got an excellent and proven pedigree in Super 15 rugby."

"He's a typical ball playing Australian forward - he's got a brilliant skill set."

Smith heads to Germany in hope of ending the first half of the season on a high OXFORD'S Bradley Smith is hoping a good result in the German Grand Prix this weekend will make for an enjoyable summer break.

The 23-year-old, who is currently 10th in the MotoGP standings, finished eighth in the Dutch GP a fortnight ago and has been unable to live up to his top-five expectations so far this year.

Smith finished sixth at the Sachsenring last year and after setting consistently good times towards the end of the last round in Assen, he heads to Germany in a positive mood.

"I really want to finish the first half of the season on a high," said the Monster Yamaha Tech 3 rider.

"On paper eighth in Assen may not look great but I set the third fastest lap of the race and generally had a really good pace throughout the weekend."

"We take those positives into Germany where a good result will make the summer break a lot happier."

Spaniard Marc Marquez leads the standings by 72 points, having won all eight rounds of the championship so far, from Valentino Rossi and Dani Pedrosa.

Appleton wants to strengthen squad

MICHAEL Appleton says he wants to see Oxford United players "express themselves" in a yellow shirt.

The 38-year-old replaced Gary Waddock as head coach last Friday and began his new job this week after being appointed by new chairman Darryl Eales and chief executive Mike Ashton.

Appleton, who in his short managerial career has taken charge of Portsmouth, Blackpool and Blackburn Rovers, will take charge for the first time this Saturday in a pre-season friendly against Farnborough.

And just hours into his new job, Appleton, who was also temporarily in charge of West Bromwich Albion in 2011, threw down the gauntlet for his players.

"I want to see players who can express themselves," he told the club, "I am a sucker for a good footballer."

"I am mindful that we need to do what we need to do to win games of football, I understand that, but I do like to play a certain way, I do like to entertain people."

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"If you can get the balance right, play at the right moments in the right areas then obviously that's going to make me happy."

With United's first pre-season game just 48 hours away, the former Manchester United trainee is keen to see what the current squad has got to offer, in particular the younger players.

"I am just really looking forward to getting on the grass, that's the most important part of the job, having a look at the players and seeing where we are at," he said.

"I certainly know, and enough people have told me, that there's a good bunch of young players that are coming through so it will be a good opportunity for me to have a good look at them over the pre-season period."

"Until the games start we don't really see a balance of where the squad is going to go and the strengths and weaknesses of certain players, but I think once the games start I will get a feel of who can do what in what areas of the field."

Appleton also added that he will be working hard to strengthen the squad before United begin their Sky Bet League Two campaign on August 9 at home to Burton Albion.

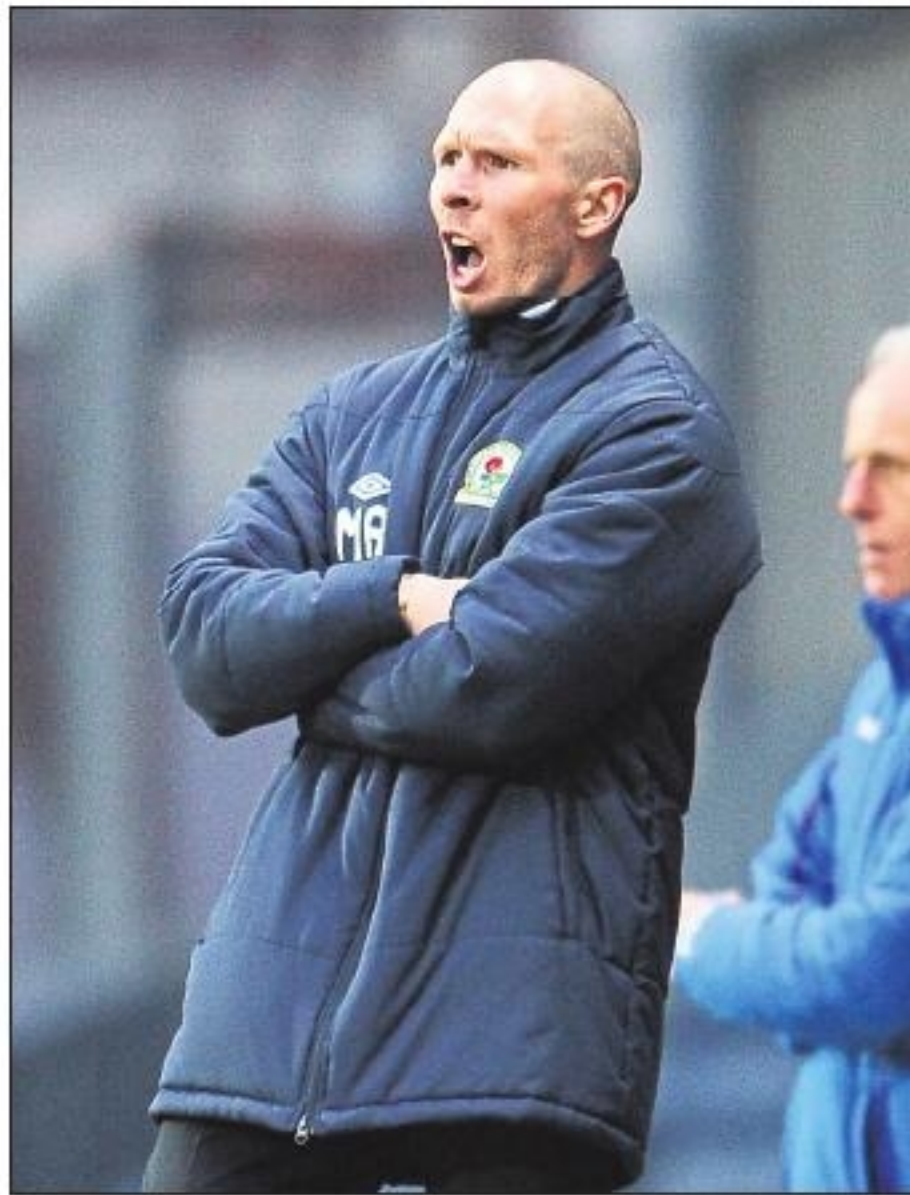

He said: "It is something that we are going to try and address as quickly as we possibly can."

"We're a few days away from the first pre-season game, we're aware of that, and that game on August 9 against Burton will come around really quickly."

"I'd like to think, before that time, that we will certainly have a stronger squad than what we have at this moment in time."

Eddie misses cut

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell endured a tough week at the French Open, as he missed the cut to finish in a tie for 87th.

A level par round of 71 got Pepperell's tournament off to a solid start, but his work was undone with a six-over 76 on the Friday.

He has missed two cuts in the last three competitions he has entered, but had made the weekend for the previous four.

Win for Oxford

OXFORD Rugby League won their first game since May on Saturday, with a 36-16 victory over South Wales Scorpions.

They had lost six games in a row before this weekend, with their last win also coming against the Scorpions on May 18.

Oxford are seventh in the Championship 1 standings with 16 points, four behind sixth-placed Gateshead.

New signings

OXFORD Saints have brought in five new recruits for the remainder of the 2014 season.

Thomas Beauchamp, Ryan Kingshott, Ian Harry, Misha Brooks and Mathew Wheeldon all join the squad for the final three games of the season.

After winning their first four matches, Saints have lost the following three and hope to turn their fortunes around against Sandwell Steelers on July 20.

City to face Hyde in their season opener

THE fixture list for the Conference North has been revealed, which sees Oxford City making the trip to Hyde for their first game on August 9.

Hyde were relegated from the Conference Premier last season, after they could only score 10 points from their 46 games.

Home games against Worcester City and Chorley follow for Oxford, with matches against Solihull Moors, Gloucester City and Harrogate Town taking them to the end of August.

They are away to Leamington on Boxing Day, with the reverse fixture happening on New Year's Day.

And City end the season with a home match versus Guiseley on April 25.

Oxford begin their FA Cup campaign on September 27 in the second qualifying round, while the FA Trophy third qualifying round is scheduled for November 29.

City are currently preparing for their first pre-season match, which sees them host Oxford United next Tuesday at 7.45pm.

Matches against Wantage Town, Didcot Town, Chippenham Town, Ardley United and Dunstable Town follow before they start their season proper.

Beano gets a brace with his new club

FORMER Oxford United striker James Constable said he wishes his former club "all the best" this season as he began pre-season with his new club Eastleigh earlier this week.

Constable scored twice in a 3-0 win over Didcot Town on Monday night and was pleased to see quite a few Oxford fans among the 236 supporters at the Loop Meadow Stadium.

"It's nice," he said. "I had a great time there and the fans were fantastic during the time I was there."

"I wish them all the best for next season and hopefully we (Eastleigh and Oxford) can both do well."

Constable was not the only former Oxford player on show as Jack Midson and Yemi Odubade are also on the books at Eastleigh.

The 29-year-old said he has enjoyed linking up with old teammate Midson, after the pair helped Oxford to promotion from the Conference in 2010.

He said: "We haven't seen too much of each other so it's nice. "The fact that we have been together at another club probably makes it easier to come in and play games because you have already got a little bit of an understanding."

Career-best result for Sean in Hungary

CHIPPING Norton racer Sean Walkinshaw recorded his career-best finish at the Hungaroring at the weekend, with fifth place in the EuroFormula Open.

The 20-year-old had a sensational qualifying session which put him on the second row of the grid for race one, giving him the opportunity to challenge at the front.

Race two was a little more challenging as Sean struggled with the flu, but he still managed to bring his car home in the points with 10th place.

"Overall I was pretty happy with the weekend and it was obviously great to get my best result of the season," said Walkinshaw.

"I'm glad every weekend we are getting stronger and stronger, and finishing higher and higher up the order."

"Hopefully we can continue that momentum at Silverstone."

Walkinshaw currently sits equal 11th in the standings after eight rounds with 24 points, two behind 10th-placed Gerardo Nieto.

The next race of the season takes place at Silverstone between July 18 and 20.

BOTTAS SAVES TEAM'S RACE

Bottas gets podium after Massa taken out on opening lap

A SECOND successive podium for Valtteri Bottas transformed what had been a disastrous weekend for Williams Martini Racing at the British Grand Prix up until then.

Bottas stormed through the field after starting in 14th place, following a strategic error in qualifying that left both Williams' drivers well down the field.

He was up to ninth after the first lap, before overtaking numerous drivers to finish in second place.

"We knew we had a quick car and maybe it surprised us it was so quick," said Bottas.

"The first stint we went through the field fast and that needed a bit of risk. I am so happy for the team, they have worked on race pace and it shows.

"We are a stronger team than we were in the first few races and it won't be easy to stay near the top, but we are doing a great job of it at the moment."

But it was a weekend to forget for Felipe Massa, whose race ended on the first lap after Kimi Raikkonen's Ferrari crashed in front of him, leaving Massa with no chance to avoid the Finn.

Massa was able to swerve so

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

only the rear of his car collided with the Ferrari, but despite getting the car going there was too much damage for him to continue.

It came as Massa was celebrating his 200th grand prix in Formula One.

The race was stopped for an hour while the barrier which Raikkonen collided with was replaced.

"It has been a really difficult weekend," said Massa. "The car felt great, and then there was the accident.

"Kimi came across the track and I never really had a chance to miss him, and sadly the damage was too much to continue.

"It's a weekend to forget for me personally - not the 200th grand prix I had planned."

Bottas is now fifth in the drivers' championship standings after Silverstone with 73 points, while Massa drops a spot to 10th with 30 points.

The next race takes place at the German track of Hockenheim on July 20.
